EDITOR'S PREFACE

This volume, The Isaac Morris Family with the Connecting Families, is not my work, and I deserve no honor or credit for it, but instead it is the work of the late Franklin Morris of Rockford (Harrison County), West Virginia, who was the brother of my grandmother. He spent more than thirty years tracing the Morris and connecting families and compiling the data for this book.

I had known of this book for several years, but I had never seen the volume until March, 1938, when I contacted his son, Darius Morris, of Clendenin, West Virginia, who so willingly sent me his father's original copy, which I had access to and copied the entire contents into my own book. I took the liberty of compiling and including in the original volume the Texas branch of the family as far as I was able to get data. I compiled lineage charts, Revolutionary War records, indexed the book, and prepared it for printing.

The book is reproduced as Franklin Morris compiled it, and as he left it when he passed away on February 18, 1930. I had numerous requests from descendants of these families, D. A. R. research genealogists, and libraries for my copy or else detailed outlines so at last I decided to have the manuscript mimeographed and bound in order that it might be available to these folk, that they might have an opportunity to read, learn, and appreciate a real family heritage left to them.

It is my hope and I am sure that if Uncle Franklin Morris was here, his wish would be that each of the descendants would continue to keep this lineage up to date in your immediate family, and pass it down the succeeding generations.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Darius Morris for the privilege of having access to his father's original manuscript, for it was through his kindness that you have this book, which expresses very conclusive evidence of a task of labor and love well done.

And, in conclusion, I want to acknowledge my sincere gratitude to Miss Inez Hill, who so efficiently helped organize material, cut the stencils, supervise the typing and mimeographing, and binding of this volume.

Explanation: The index contains only the names of persons whose family lineage is included in the book. Since the very nature of the book is family biography and any one wishing to use it would be interested in persons, not places or dates, as such, for that reason states, cities, residence, and dates will be found on the pages specifically designated for that particular person or family and not in the index.

It begins with a brief account of the early attempts to explain the phenomena of life, and then proceeds to a more detailed examination of the various theories which have been advanced from time to time. The author shows how the scientific method has been applied to the study of life, and how the knowledge of the subject has been gradually accumulated.

DANIEL MORRIS
Wales - 1737

"There had been a succession of Daniel and Isaac Morris' in Wales for six generations. Finally in 1737 Daniel Morris came to America and settled in Berks County, Pennsylvania, 1737.

He married in Wales. I might add here that I do not know the date of birth of either Grandfather or Grandmother Daniel Morris or where they are resting, but I suppose somewhere near Reading, Pennsylvania. They were both of Welch origin, and came to America in 1737."

The following children were born to this union:

1. John (2)
2. Daniel (2)
3. Enoch (2)
4. Isaac (2)

Note: "John went to Michigan. He was a hatter by trade. After his removal to Michigan, his history is lost to this part of the family.

Daniel Junior, the second son of the above, lived in Berks County, Pennsylvania, near Reading, where some of his posterity still lives.

Enoch Morris, third son of the above, went to Philadelphia, and we know nothing of him or his descendants.

There are two principal reasons for this.

First, the fact that the world is a very small place.

Second, the fact that the world is a very old place.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the world is a very small place.

Isaac Morris, fourth son of the above, whose descendants are recorded on the following pages, is the branch of the family to which the writer of these lines is a descendant—Franklin Morris.

"Soon after the birth of Thomas, Isaac moved to Virginia, and settled on a farm near Palatine, or more correctly, on the land where Palatine now stands in Marion County. From here he moved to a farm on Simpson Creek in Harrison County, located three (3) miles below Bridgeport. Later, he sold this farm and moved to a farm on Elk Creek four (4) miles above Clarksburg and just below Quiet Dell. His son, Joseph, bought this farm (166 acres) and Isaac moved to a farm on Hoglick Run, a tributary of Booth's Creek in Marion County, Virginia, where they (he and wife) lived the remainder of their lives with their son, Henton.

They were members of the Baptist church and lived and died exemplary christians. He was a minister of the Gospel in that denomination for sixty (60) years, preaching the Gospel, never failing to miss a single appointment.

Isaac Morris' library consisted of three Bibles, four Testaments, Dilmonth's School Master's Assistant, The Young Man's Companion, Arithmetic, an outline of Astronomy, Scott's Lessons in Elocution, a part of Bunyons and Baxters writings, and twelve volumes of sermons.

Isaac Morris lived to the age of ninety-one years, died in 1828. His wife, Ruth Henton Morris, lived to be ninety-one years of age; she died August, 1841."

"Isaac and Mary Henton Morris are resting some where in the vicinity of their old home I suppose." Franklin Morris.

"In 1830 there were about three hundred descendants of Isaac and Mary Henton Morris and in 1856 there were around one thousand living and dead." F. M.

Rev. Joseph Morris and wife, Nancy Davisson Morris are resting in a cemetery located on Brusby Fork of Elk Creek in Harrison County, West Virginia. It is on the north side of the creek and about one-fourth ($\frac{1}{4}$) mile below the mouth of Coplin's Run on a little raise or bluff, and about three-fourths of a mile below the old home and about one hundred fifty yards from the creek.

Joseph Morris, the head of this branch of family, was born probably in 1768. Soon after the birth of Thomas, his father, Isaac, moved to Virginia. His son, Allen John, said he had heard his father Joseph say that he could remember moving.

(3)
Rev. Joseph Morris preached a sermon in the Baptist Church at Pruntytown in 1854. From a letter written by Mrs. E. A. Anvil of West Virginia; her father was Daniel S.
Morris, a nephew of Rev. Joseph Morris.

THOMAS MORRIS
1776 - 1844

Thomas Morris was the son of Isaac Morris and

There were eleven children born to this union as follows:

1. Jonothan David 1798-1875
(4)

2. Thomas J. (4)

3. Benjamin Franklin (4)

4. Isaac Newton (4)

Thomas was the fifth child; soon after his birth in Berks County, Pennsylvania, his father removed to Virginia. Three months in the common schools completed his education, at the age of sixteen years. He took up his rifle to repel the Indians on the frontiers of Virginia and Pennsylvania. At seventeen he served several months in Captain Levi Morgan's Company of "Woods Rangers" stationed in the wilderness in what is now the eastern part of Ohio.

In 1795 Thomas, then 19 years of age, arrived in Columbia, Ohio, Hamilton County, and was employed in a store of the Rev. John Smith who was a very successful merchant as well as a good politician, a sageons legislator and able divine. Judge Pollock says of him: "As an ox driver no man was his superior, at log rolling or horse racing, he was the foremost man. At the end of a hand spike few could outlift him."

The Sabbath day would find him in the pulpit an able advocate of Christianity and the Baptist denomination, as a member of Congress, he stood among the great men of the nation,

In 1802 Ohio was admitted to the union, and Smith was elected one of her first senators. Near the close of his third term he became implicated with Arrow Burr in his project of farming the Southwestern Empire. Smith resigned his seat in Congress in 1807 and fled from Ohio in disgrace, lost his wealth and ended his career in dishonor and poverty at Bayou Sarva La.

Thomas Morris used to hunt over the ground where Cincinnati now is and when his rifle spoke, many a wild turkey fell.

Among the emigrants to Columbia where Benjamin and Mary Davis, their youngest child, was Rachel, whom he married November 19, 1797. Their married life continued almost fifty years. She survived him only eight years, dying January 8, 1853, at the age of seventy-four years. There were eleven children born to this union.

He moved to Williamsburg, Clemont County, Ohio, in 1802 and began the study of law and in 1804 removed to Bethel, Ohio, where he was admitted to the bar. In 1806 he was elected to represent Clemont County, and took his seat in Congress at Jonesville, Ohio, which was the state Capitol at that time. He was representative for twenty-four years.

In 1808-9, the legislature of Ohio preferred articles of impeachment against Clavin Peas and John Tod. Thomas Morris was appointed to conduct impeachment on the part of the house, and the historic records show he performed that part of his duty with ability. Judge Baldwin of Pittsburg, a very distinguished lawyer and for many years a member of the United States Supreme Court, was employed by the state to assist Morris, but they failed to get two-thirds vote to sustain them.

December 15, 1832 the democratic party put his nomination in for the senate, and he was elected. In 1833 he took his seat in the United States Senate where he served six years. Here he became identified with the abolitionist party, in 1839 when his term expired. In the senate he fought the battle for freedom almost alone, but it is said he did it with courage and ability.

In January, 1841, he was invited by the mayor and others of Dayton, Ohio, to speak at that time, but was prevented by a mob that had planned to kill him. They had the sanction of the mayor, it is said,

In 1843 the Liberty party met in convention in Buffalo, New York to nominate candidates for president and vice-president of the United States. He was nominated on the ticket of vice-president along with James Berney of Michigan for president.

He died at his home four miles from Bethel in Clermont County, Ohio, on December 7, 1844, and was buried at Bethel. A monument marks the spot with this simple inscription:

THEORY OF THE EARTH'S CRUST

The theory of the earth's crust is a branch of geology which deals with the structure and development of the solid part of the earth. It is concerned with the processes which have shaped the crust, and with the forces which are still at work in it. The theory is based on the study of the rocks and the structures which they form, and on the principles of physics and chemistry which govern the behaviour of the materials of which they are made.

THE HISTORY OF THE CITY OF BOSTON

From its first settlement in 1630 to the present time, the city of Boston has been a center of commerce, industry, and culture. Its location on a small island in the harbor of Massachusetts gave it a strategic advantage from the beginning. The city's growth was rapid, and it soon became one of the most important cities in the New England colonies. Its role in the American Revolution was pivotal, and it has since been a leader in many fields, including education, science, and the arts. The city's history is a testament to the resilience and innovation of its people.

The city of Boston was founded in 1630 by a group of Puritan settlers. They came to the area in search of a place where they could practice their religion freely and build a community based on their values. The city's early years were marked by hardship and struggle, but the settlers persevered and built a thriving community. The city's location on a small island in the harbor of Massachusetts gave it a strategic advantage from the beginning. The city's growth was rapid, and it soon became one of the most important cities in the New England colonies.

The city's role in the American Revolution was pivotal. It was here that the first battle of the war was fought, and it was here that the British evacuated the city in 1776. The city's location on a small island in the harbor of Massachusetts gave it a strategic advantage from the beginning. The city's growth was rapid, and it soon became one of the most important cities in the New England colonies.

The city's history is a testament to the resilience and innovation of its people. It has been a center of commerce, industry, and culture from its first settlement in 1630 to the present time. The city's location on a small island in the harbor of Massachusetts gave it a strategic advantage from the beginning. The city's growth was rapid, and it soon became one of the most important cities in the New England colonies.

1. The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 1, 1861. It is a very important document, as it is the first official communication of the new President to the Congress. The letter is written in a very formal and dignified style, and it contains a great deal of information about the President's views on the issues of the day. The President, James Buchanan, is a member of the Democratic Party, and he is known for his moderate and conciliatory views. In his letter, he expresses his confidence in the Union and his belief in the importance of maintaining the balance between the different sections of the country. He also mentions the recent election of Abraham Lincoln, and he expresses his hope that the new President will be able to bring about a peaceful resolution of the issues at stake. The letter is a very important document, as it sets the tone for the President's administration and it provides a clear statement of his policies and goals. It is a document that is worth reading for anyone who is interested in the history of the United States and the role of the President in the government.

Repealing of Ulster in Ireland

"At date of repealing Ulster from England and Scotland, after the Cromwell butcheries had exterminated the Irish, Highlanders were forbidden to settle there. All Davissons of highland origin came subsequence after the American Revolution. If there were any in America, they were Tories and left the colonies.

The Scotch-Irish and early Scotch to a man fought with the patriots a Mr. A. H. Davisson of Des Moines, Iowa, adds "We are of Southern and midland Scotland and Lowland borders, and the name was generally Davisson, sometimes Davinson. The Davisson's of Scotch origin were lowlanders and Anglo Saxons."

"The line from Scotland direct which have continued to the present time are Daniel Davisson (1630-1693) of Ipswich, Mass. (?) an exile for participation in the Covenant War of 1650 and came to America probably about 1650 or 1651. His family is probably the most numerous of the name."

His grandson, Josiah Davisson, (1692-1759) died in New Jersey, went about advertising the Davisson spelling. He made a success of the change. Only a few of his descendents have resumed the true name.

Daniel Davisson (1630-1693) had five sons: Daniel, Jr., William, John, Peter, and Thomas.

Dear Miss Fletcher:

The Isaac Morris Family With Connecting Families,
by Franklin Morris is a fine piece of work.

We thank you very much for the copy which we received in good condition in July.

We note several errors which you will wish to correct
in your copy as follows:

Page 84, Sarah Cander should be Sarah Carder and the date of her death should be November 12, 1854. Immediately after this the date July 6, 1847, appears and this latter date is the marriage of Sarah Carder and Ebenezer Wilson Patton.

Page 84, in the name Lucinda Earle Patton the e is incorrectly omitted. It is stated on page 84 that Lucinda Earle Patton died at West Milford, May 19, 1929. This should be May 29, 1929.

Page 85, Charles Burch Highland should be Charles Bruce.

Franklin Earl should be Franklin Earle.
The name of his wife is Estelle.

Isophene Highland married Emory Ellis
Tetrick.
